

Jan McInnis brings to the stage clean, insightful and original material perfect for today's corporate comedy show. Her 15 years spent climbing the company ladder, along with growing up in a large family, and now dating in the new Millennium, will hit a nerve with people at all levels of your organization.

What Clients Are Saying About Jan:

"You can tell that a comedian has been successful when members of the audience keep repeating the jokes that were told for days after the performance!"

-Laura Phelps, American Mushroom Institute

"We were in stitches! Not only was Jan hilarious but she took the time to research our company and we felt like she really knew who we were and what would make us laugh. When the comment cards came back, she was a 10 out of a 10. Bravo Jan!!"

-Stacy Waddell, Sares-Regis Group

"We especially like how you tailored the show to our group and that none of the jokes were offensive. Everyone thought that you were hilarious."

-Gordon Manashil, MD, Kaiser-Permanente

-Richard J. McCarthy, MD, Kaiser-Permanente

What Jan Is Saying:

"I just read that there are fewer women in the workforce than men. I think that's because we women warn each other. Once a year we have that 'take your daughter to work' day . . . and show them what happens when you don't marry rich."

"When you manage people you learn a lot of stuff . . . like most relatives die on a Friday."
