Custom Corporate Show

Sean has a solid history and endorsements from a wide variety of Corporations that have expressed sincere gratitude for his special efforts in tailoring an event to suit the needs of the Corporation. Sean’s flexibility allows him to easily integrate into his show the promotion of a new company product by making it “appear” in a mystical and unforgettable way. Another possibility is for Sean to take aside the CEO or other company executive and give them a quick and easy lesson on how to become part of the show, and this could include making the CEO “magically” appear. The result is an exciting, fun-filled and memorable means of introducing an executive that will cause an instant ice-breaker, and set the stage for effective audience participation and interaction.

Here is an example of a popular choice by Corporations of activities for the event. To liven up cocktail hour and get colleagues and guests mixing, Sean's effective and entertaining close-up magic will be utilized. After dinner, Sean will perform an initial segment of his Magic & Illusions Show, and then transform a volunteer from the audience into the CEO of the company.

The CEO will then begin the kick-off for the evening. Sean will be called back out to “wrap up” the evening with the balance of his Gold Show. This will cause the audience to sustain their excitement for the evening and leave with high spirits.

“A great professional who really helped us accomplish our objective in terms of moving our professional team forward. Thanks for your great work Sean.”
